July, 2006

In an interesting special on the boob tube the other day the researchers noted that while the US is very evenly split between politically, when you break it down to the county level, you find that the splits are very lopsided. Rather than an even distribution of opinions, we have blocks of very one sided areas. The are balanced in the aggregate, but at the community level they are very polarized. In an experiment in conjunction with this result, they had a body of people fill out a survey with questions about a number of controversial questions. They then formed groups of 8 people who were all on the same side of the question, but by varying degrees. That is, on a scale of 1-10 with 5 being neutral and 1 being strongly disagree and 10 being strongly agree, all people in a particular group answered in the 6-10 range. The group was tasked to come out with a single consensus answer to the question. The striking result was that rather than finding the middle as one might expect, the consensus answer was often a 10! When a disparate group finds a consensus it goes to the middle, but when a homogenous group does so it tends to radicalize to the extreme.

Taking this back to the political landscape of the US you can see where it's a very disturbing picture. As communities coalesce into like minded groups, those groups tend to migrate to the extreme. Two communities split 50/50 will head toward the middle, both 5s if you will. Shuffle the populations so the internal split of the communities is 70/30 and they tend to become more radicalized, heading to 1 and 10. I certainly see this happening as I find it harder and harder to understand the positions of "the other side", and bemoan the loss of my own party (yes, I grew up a moderate Republican) to the extreme wing.

June/July. The time when I regret having moved as far south as the southern border of NH. Ah for the northern hills of Vermont where I grew up and were it's 10 degrees cooler and more importantly, 10% less humid. I hate heat. I can always put on more clothes in the winter, and I'm blessed (during the winter it's a blessing anyway) with an active metabolism which seems to keep my body temperature up. But there are only so many clothes you can take off and society keeps insisting on limits short of that. The one good thing we have is the local little lake. It's got a great pine grove, with a sandy beach and is restricted to town residents so it doesn't get swamped. I love the water, but hate the heat and the sun, so big open beaches aren't my thing. But a pine grove to hide in helps a lot! And this weekend we took the whole clan to the ocean as my oldest son has a concert in York Maine. By the time the concert was done it was early evening and the crowds and the sun were gone, making the beach a very pleasant place to be. Something about watching kids enjoy a rare treat like that that makes you feel good.

Deadline for all games: Moday, August 20

Gunboat with press: Five signed up so far.

Perestroika Diplomacy: Add an economic twist to the classic game. Centers generate revenue, armies and fleets must be maintained, and treasuries can be sacked! Rules are available on request.
Signed up: Art Schleinkofer, Harold Reynolds, Karl Schmit, Graham Wilson

Standard Diplomacy:
Game Opening: Standard Diplomacy
Signed up:

Just the results please: Don't really know what to call this one as I just came up with it. Perhaps it's been tried before. The twist for this variant is that each season only the ending unit positions are published, not the orders. You'll know who went where, but not who helped whom, or want may have been tried unsuccessfully.
Signed up: Doug Kent, Graham Wilson, Art Schleinkofer

Industrial Waste:
A new game for 3-4 players. Manager your factory and build your products, but beware, increased production means more waste, and if you aren't careful you'll find that working in a sludge pit affects your productivity and the bottom line.
With two games finishing, I'm opening up another.
Game Opening: Eric Brosius, Graham Wilson

Railway Rivals: Anyone have a favorite map they want?

Transcontinental USA: Richard Weiss variant. Richard's proposed rules are detailed in the Perdu game section of Tinamou 60. I've received at least one request for Richard to clarify his proposal, so I'm calling on him to try and formalize it a bit and then I'll put another write up here.

Outpost: Sign up for the next game to start when the current one finishes
Signed up: Eric Brosius

Snowball fighting: Current game is over. Anyone interested in another go? 4 signed up so far, Need a few more.

Golden Strider: It is to running what Breaking Away is to bike riding. See Tom's szine off-the-shelf at http://www.

.Breaking Away: Keep Pedalin' Orville: Turn 3

And Buttercup and Able both hit the oxide booster, blasting them up to gain some points and catching up with Dale who lets off on the gas a bit. The pack is back together though   The Anti-Nihlists move up to the front of the pack. Brandt cashes in one a big card, but just about everyone gets a boost. The Big East Basketball Coaches and the Otters pick up a whopping 57 and 60 in replacement cards but it's rather unlikely that they'll be picking up any points from the first sprint line. We've got 9 riders whose minimum card is an 8 or greater, so expect to see some movement next turn.

Press:

As the four white horses of Team MLT were rounding a turn, they were stopped by a six-fingered man and 12 of his guard. They forced Team MLT to halt, and the guards set upon Westley, Fezzik, and Inigo while the six-fingered man grabbed Princess Buttercup and raced away. After a few guards where quickly dispatched by the man in black, he pursued. Inigo and Fezzik dispatched with the other 9 guards, with Inigo deftly dispatching three with his sword, while Fezzik happily fought the other six.

"Six is a good number", said Fezzik. "I hate fighting one at a time."

GM – Miracle Max: I thought Fezzik have 5 and Inigo 4? Wonder how the story'd go if Inigo was telling it?

JIM to MIKE: "   " to you too!

Woolies to GM: So it would seem. If you don't give us some small cards soon, we'll have (the same) company at the front...

GM to Woolies: I'll give you low cards, just stop riding in each other's back pockets!

Tom to GM: I tried to read Mike's invisible writing from last turn, but only burned up the page. Can you send me a replacement report? Thanks.

GM to Tom: You did use the flame from a dried sprig of mistletoe gathered at midnight under a full moon with a silver sickle didn't you?

EARNHARDT: By not taking space 22 last turn, I spun out thirteen of you sumbiches! Ha!

GM – Earnhard: Buttercup says "VROOOMM".

Kypinka (RR1993UA) Ukraine – Round 10

Obaa takes a flyer on some new track. Seems to think he'll need to work to hold his lead. A number of very close races, and the dice don't go TSRs way which keeps him in second but makes catching OBAMA less likely.
